When Life Feels Overwhelming by Zeke Flores

"Yahweh will fight for you while you keep silent" (Exodus 14:14).

Israel is trapped between the Red Sea and Pharaoh's army. Panic is rising, fear is loud, and God gives them this simple instruction: Be still. Not because the situation isn't serious, but because God is the one who will act. Sometimes the hardest thing to do is nothing. We want to fix, control, argue, or scramble. But there are moments when God asks us to step back so He can step forward. Silence isn't passivity, it's trust; it's choosing to believe that God is fighting for you even when you can't see how. Think about the battles in your life that feel overwhelming, the ones where you've run out of ideas or strength. This verse reminds you that God is not asking you to win the fight; He's asking you to trust Him with it. Your stillness can be an act of faith. God has a way of making paths where none exist.
